Aug 30, 2020 Argos sonar is a 12kHz, autonomous multibeam sonar. The Argos sonar was developed with early Multibeam sonar users in mind, with the optimum performance suited to mobile systems. Argos sonar is a successor to the more legacy-oriented Samson MARIS and V1 MARS. The first Argos systems were installed at Schramm Engineering in 2005. There are now many more installations in the marine industry, as well as operators in the mining and gas industry, for example Chevron, Shell, and BHP. More... Argos sonar users are now able to display their FLS bathymetric data in the Qinsy platform along with the rest of the survey data they are . Field of the Invention The present invention relates generally to methods and devices for inducing epileptic seizures by magnetic stimulation, and more particularly to the use of a multi-electrode array for noninvasive contactless stimulation of the human brain with magnetic signals to induce epileptic seizures. 2. Description of the Related Art Epilepsy is a neurologic condition characterized by spontaneous recurrent seizures, i.e., an excessive discharge of impulses from the brain which results in a temporary loss of brain function. A seizure is a single clinical episode of this kind of disorganized brain activity, and a seizure of the grand mal type is generally considered to be a convulsion occurring in the presence of impaired consciousness and motor activity and involving three of the following five signs: (1) abnormal posturing or movement causing changes in the position or appearance of the person;
